DON'T PAY THE RANSOM

Ed Worthington, NPO's Coolest IT Guy, would like to assure that none of our members ever have to pay a ransom for anything! He recommends that your practices take a look at these:

Linda Bower, Munson Medical Center's Information Security Officer, has put together both a list of resources and an informative presentation about the recent ransomware attacks that health care facilities have faced.

BURNOUT

Increasing Physician well-being & reducing burnout: A conversation with Christine Sinsky, MD, FACP

Dr. Sinsky is an internist at Medical Associates Clinic and Health Plans in Dubuque, Iowa. Doctor Sinsky serves on the American Medical Association's Advisory Panel on Physician Satisfaction. An expert in and advocate for physician well-being, Doctor Sinsky recently visited Michigan as a guest of Michigan State Medical Society, St. Joseph Mercy Ann Arbor and Washtenaw County Medical Society to present a workshop on physician and team burnout. MSMS was fortunate enough to have an opportunity to chat with Doctor Sinsky about her passion for physician well-being and reducing burnout.

PROTECT YOURSELF

Protect your patients and your practice with cyber liability coverage

As the conversion of paper files to electronic formats continue, a greater amount of risk is assumed in complying with new legal or regulatory requirements. These risks may result in data security breaches and even damage to your reputation. It's happening every single day. In 2015 alone, the Office of Civil Rights published information which showed more than 30,000 individuals in Michigan were affected by a security breach. Furthermore, there were several health care organizations that had some kind of security breach. READ MORE program developed and administered by Association Gloves and endorsed by the MSMS. Is your practice among the thousands nationally that are adding to its bottom line the easiest way possible - by spending less on the essential products used in volume daily? Every dollar saved is pure profit. If you save $40 or $50 on one case of gloves, and you use even 100 cases a year, you could enhance your bottom line by as much as $5,000 simply by changing your purchasing practices.
